

Structure of your article

1. Introduction

- Set the scene
- Why is privacy rights important today?
- What will you discuss in the article?

2. General Discussion

- Broad overview of the privacy rights debate
- What are the main drivers? (technology, social media, surveillance)
- What are the obstacles? (laws, public resistance, technical limitations)
- CRITICAL ANALYSIS - evaluate the credibility of different claims

3. Specific Discussion

- Different arguments
- Pro-privacy arguments
- Pro-surveillance arguments
- Look at evidence from different perspectives
- Balance both sides fairly

4. Conclusions

- What can you conclude from your research?
- Must be logical - based on what you discussed
- Don't introduce new information here
- Clear, reasoned ending

5. Presentation

- Professional formatting
- Clear structure
- Good English
- Easy to read

6. References

- IEEE format - very important!
- Credible sources only
- References don't count towards word count